EQUATTERS ON OKLAHOMA SCHOOL LANDS WILL NOT MOVE

When the Rightful Lessees Appear to Take Possession the Men Who Have Settled on the Lands Will Not Move and Governor Renfrow is Having Them Arrested.

Special Dispatch to the Daily Eagle.

GUTHRIE, O. T., Oct. 3.-Many squatters are being arrested in the strip by the order of Governor Renfrow. These squatters have taken possession of the school lands and are hanging onto them with a deathlike grip. Some months ago the governor, according to law, leased all the school lands in the strip. A great deal of this land is valuable, and bidding on it was active at the time of its disposal. On some sections particularly there was a struggle to get the use of the land. After getting it, however, some of the lesses were painfully surprised to find the land in po sion of squatters, who declared that they would hold it, law or no law. These squat ters appear to have acted with a unanimity which would suggest organization. At first persuasion was used on the squatters, but they would listen to no argument, simply saying that they were in possession and intended to maintain Several of the lessees at once the blood. complained and now the governor has taken a band and will see whether he can control the lands which he has leased.

"Upon arriving at his office Mr. Little sent for Chairman Briedenthal, and the pair held a conference which lasted over an hour.

"How about County Atterney Boone's letter?" a reporter asked of General Little.

"That letter was published in the Times wenty-four hours before it reached my office, and forty-eight hours before I saw it. The communication was dated September 26, and mailed two days later. I know nothing of the facts therein contained, and shall not answer the letter until after I have discussed it with the governor. If, however, the condition at Wichits is as pictured by Boone, the whole police department of the place ought to be true and the law gives me any nower to leave dout."

"I there any doubt in your mind that the law gives you power to suppress crime among the police officials the same as among ordinary citizens?"

"The metry politan police statute is somewhat complicated, and I shall examine it thoroughly before deciding upon what omplicated, and I shall examine in the thoroughly before deciding upon what my duties are in the premises."

A CLEVER STRATEGY.

How General Putnum Cansed a French Vessel to Be Captured.

General Putners, a brave officer in the war between the French and English in tle story. General Amberst marched agrees the lakes over which he intended to past armed with 12 guns upon the lake. This greatly distressed the general, as his small boats were no match for this vessel in the he was thinking what had heat be done

Putnam addressed him.
"General," said he, "that ship must be taken "Yes," said Amberst, "I would give the world were abe taken.

I'll take her," said Putnam Amberet emiled and asked how filte me some wedges, a beetle (a large wooden mallet) and a few men, and I'll take her," answered Putnam.

General Amberst was puzzled as to how this was to be accomplished, but he grantsel Putnam's request and gave him the wodges, boetle and sie choice of men. When night cares, Putness stole under the vessel's stern, with his wedges and hammer and five men. In an instant the wedges were driven behind the ruider in the cavity between rudder and ship. This was done without attenting the ene coful of my's attention, and then Putnam quietly came back to shore. In fac morning the
